

Welcome to JMAC Week 11!

Please let this year be easy on my energy reserves.

Hyouka ep. 20

This week's theme is...

New Years!

A national holiday and one of the biggest events on the calendar of annual festivities in Japan.

Did you know Beethoven's 9th symphony is performed throughout Japan during the New Year season? The song was introduced to the Japanese by German prisoners during WWI, and played at the time to promote Japanese nationalism.

Another popular NYE activity is watching the popular music program "Kohaku uta Gassen", the "Year-end Music Special" on television before visiting the shrine! It started in the 50's, and features a Female vs. Male competition between different idols, singers, and various artists.

Manga of the Month

+Anima

Submitted by Mia!

+Anima, beings who possess animal-like powers, are shunned by normal human society. Four outcasts in particular-- Cooro, a boy with crow wings, Husky, a fish-boy, Senri, a bear +Anima, and Nana, who wields the power of the bat-- search for others like themselves while trying to gain acceptance in a world cruel to anything that is different. All abandoned or orphaned by their families, the four of the them try to find a place they can live in peace.

Volumes: 10

Demographic: Shounen

Genres: Adventure, Fantasy

Warnings: Mild violence, some feels

Music Video of the Week

Clover - The Sketchbook

Submitted by Danny Van Overbeke!

The band Sketchbook was created through the Sketchbook Project, which aimed to create a real-life version of the band from the manga Sket Dance. Tryouts were held for a male singer, female guitarist, and male drummer to mirror the band's composition. The band performed most of the op and ed from the Sket Dance anime. This is the second ending!
